SINGAPORE: This weekend, Pangdemonium and Singapore Repertory Theatre (SRT) are opening their doors at the Sands Theatre to premiere an All-New star-studded musical for the upcoming Christmas season.

Get ready for everything pink, bling, and very ka-ching! Audiences who have watched and loved Award-Winning Broadway Classic, Legally Blonde (or the family flick of the same name), are now in for a treat with an extravaganza of the same spunk, energy and sassiness, but unlike anything they've ever seen before.

In a first collaborative effort by two of the biggest Theatre Collectives in Singapore, Legally Ang Moh is the brainchild of Arts moguls Adrian Pang and Chong Tze Chien who envisioned a localised version of the bimbo-heroine we all love.

"I thought, what if it's Elle Woods, but she's an expat in Singapore and living in Woodlands?" Director Adrian Pang recounts on his inspiration for the show. "I knew we wanted to talk about important topics like law and white privilege in Singapore but we wanted to do it in a fun way, to not take it too seriously and be able to laugh at ourselves" said Chong, main Scriptwriter.

"Filled with guilty 'ahm chio's and belly-shaking guffaws"

"Unapologetic, as it should be."
